Lyn Nhong

Workforce Outreach Manager
AGC of California

Lyn Nhong is the Workforce Outreach Manager at AGC of California, where she leads statewide outreach efforts for the AGC Construction Education Foundation's Workforce Development program, Build California. Passionate about educating and inspiring youth, she works to highlight the viable career opportunities available in the construction industry.

Lyn has been with the association for over three years and holds a bachelor's degree in social welfare from the University of Washington, Seattle. Originally from a rural area in Cambodia, she is deeply committed to empowering young girls and minority youth, helping them envision their future and reach their full potential for successful careers.
