

Austin Fitch

Senior Estimator/Project Manager
Griffith Company

Austin Fitch is a Senior Estimator/Project Manager with Griffith Company in Bakersfield, California. Since joining Griffith in 2018, he has helped deliver heavy civil infrastructure projects throughout Central California, leading efforts in estimating, project management, and construction operations.

Austin holds a Bachelor of Science in Geological and Earth Sciences from California State University, Bakersfield, and is actively involved in industry leadership and workforce development. He serves on the AGC Emerging Leaders Steering Committee and the AGC Tri-Counties District Board of Directors. He has also participated in the Caltrans Partnering Training and Mentor-Protégé Programs.

Passionate about mentorship and continuous improvement, Austin believes the construction industry provides endless opportunities to learn, grow, and help others succeed.
