

Fernando Nunez Jr.

Senior Project Manager – Planning, Design & Construction
University of California, Riverside (UCR)

Fernando Nuñez Jr. is a Senior Project Manager for the Planning, Design, & Construction Department at the University of California, Riverside (UCR) where he is responsible for overseeing multiple capital improvement projects from inception to completion. His architectural background complimented by his construction field experience has provided a comprehensive understanding of the design and construction processes as seen from the perspective of the Architect, Contractor, and Owner. With over 25 years of working within the construction industry, Fernando has experienced firsthand the importance of how communication plays an integral role in delivering a successful project while fostering positive relationships throughout the process.

#CONSTRUCT26